Sumorous Department

A Wise Man .- "Do I believe in lawyers?" said the little man, bitterly, according to the London Tit-Bits. "No, sir; I do not." "Why not?" asked his companion. "Because a lawyer never says right out what he means," retorted the small man, viciously. "He twists things about so. Suppose he wanted to tell you that two and two make four; he'd begin: 'If by that particular arithmetic rule known as addition we desire to arrive at the sum preacher, occupied the pulpit of the of two added by two, we should find First Baptist church Thursday and -and I say this boldly, without fear Friday evenings. Owing to the inof contradiction-I repeat, we should find by that particular arithmetical were comparatively small. The Rev. formula, hereinbefore mentioned-and Charles displayed a wonderful knowsir. I take all responsibility for the statement I am about to make-that the sum of the two given added to the other would be four.' No, sir," finished the little man, coldly; "I do not believe Infant Logic.-Burglars broke into a Ravenna home a short time ago, and made a very successful clean-up. In the home were the mother and two grown daughters, together with a grandchild five years of age, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The burglar got valuable articles from each of the adults in the family and they spent the following day in feeling sorry for each other. They expressed this mutual sorrow and sympathy again and again, until finally the child remarked:

"Well, I feel sorry for the burglar." "But why?" "Because he can never go heaven." Well, isn't that the feeling one ought to have? It was told us as a funny story, but it seems to us to be a mighty fine example of infant logic.

Just Like a Scot .- The late Cy Warner, who deserted railway literature for a real railway job in Montreal, told this story not very long before his death:

A Scotchman came upon an automobile overturned at a railway crossing. Beside it lay a man all smashed

"Get a doctor," he moaned. "Did the train hit you," asked the Scotchman.

"Yes, yes; get a doctor." "Has the claim agent been

"No, no; please get a doctor." "Move over, you," said the Scot "till I lie down beside you."

He Was Tired.-Frank lives Eastern avenue, says the Indianapolis News. A few days ago his companion, George, caught his clothing on a picket fence. He was held fast, his feet a foot or two from the ground. He pleaded with Frank to release him or to run for help, but Frank refused. "Why don't you go and help George?" his mother inquired from the front

"I'm just too tired," said Frank. "Yesterday I wanted him to shoo' my dog out of his yard, and he wouldn't do it, 'cause he said he was too tired. I'm just as tired as he was."

had an altercation. Lucy had told Ellen what she called "a little fib." "A fib is the same thing as a story," explained Ellen, "and a story is the same thing as a lie." "No," argued Lucy, "it is not." "Yes it is," insisted Ellen; "because my father said so: and my father is a college professor, and he knows everything!

"I don't care if he is a professor." said Lucy. "My father is an estate agent, and he knows a lot more about at Edgemont. lying than your father!"

At the Top of the Stairs -- A woman from the south visiting New York for the first time was much agitated when, after being conveyed through the Hudson tube, she found herself in another subway. Rushing up to a knowinglylooking individual, she asked, in an agitated tone:

"Sir. do please tell me, where is New York ?"

said he with the utmos "Lady," gravity, " it's right at the top of Mercy Shown Client.-"We've won that suit of Thompson's against the railroad company," said the junior partner, according to the New York "What shall we charge him?" "Let me see," said the senior partner. "What was the amount of the damages?" "Twenty thousand dollars." "Make a bill out for nineteen thousand five hundred. He's entitled to something for giving us the case." Song Haunted Her.-At a party Miss Brown had sung "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," and for days after she was singing or humming it to herself. "It seems to haunt me," she said to

at the way you murdered it."-New York Sun. Forearmed.-"Why does the bride hate him?" "He's one of those practical jokers whom everybody hates. The bride asked him to come over and try some of her biscuits.

"Did he go?" "Yes, and took a hammer and cold chisel with him.'

the sweet girl affectionately, you, would you?" "Indeed I would not, my dearest." said the wealthy father fondly.

"I'm so glad," sighed the girl. "Now I'll marry Mr. Poorchap. He's willing Lodge, No. 261, A. F. M. He also be-

The Ruse Worked .- "Why won't you buy something at my table?" demanded the girl at the charity fair. "Because," said the smooth tongued youth, "I buy only from homely girls, ing sales." And he worked this right down the

The Limit.-"See, here waiter," exclaimed the indignant customer, "here's a piece of wood in my sausage." "Yes, sir," replied the waiter, "but I'm sure-er-"Sure nothing! I don't mind eating the dog, but I'll be hanged if I'm going to eat the kennel too."

Inherited Trait .- "Your daughter is improving," said the music teacher, "but somehow when she gets to the scales I have to watch her pretty

"She's just like her father," said the nother: "you know, he made his

News Happenings In Neighboring Communities.

CONDENSED FOR OUICK Dealing Mainly With Local Affairs of

caster and Chester. Gaffney Ledger, Aug. 24: Rev. Charles R. Turner, seven-year-old boy clement weather, his congregations rine attack was announced by Engledge of the Scriptures, with ability to this transport were lost, it was inevitinterpret the various passages, preachinterpret the various passages, preached impressive sermons. His father and mother travel with the young divine.It is reported that Hon. N. W. Hardin of Blacksburg, is considering entering the congressional race in the fifth district next year. Mr. Hardin has been in politics for a number of years and has represented Cherokee county in the state general assembly. The report that he will be in the congressional race is said to emanate from reliable sources.....Mr. G. M. Phifer, for twenty years a resident of Gaffney, and one of the most highly respected and honored citizens, died suddenly at his home on Limestone street Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock, as a result of heart failure. He had just eaten his supper and gone into the bath room to clean his teeth when the fatal attack came. He had been slightly unwell since the preceding Sunday and had not been at his store since Tuesday, but he had been around the house as usual. Only a short time before supper he had been out in the yard working on his automobile. Mr. Phifer was 59 years of age. He is survived by his wife and one daughter.....Mrs. Rosa A. Jackson passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. V. Gaffney, Friday evening after an illness lasting more than three months. She was 63 years of age. Besides Mrs. Gaffney, she is survived by a son, Murray T. Jackson, of Philadelphia, and a number of brothers and sisters. Chester Reporter, Aug. 23: Master Claude Coleman, the 12-year-old son of Mr. Ernest Coleman, of the Feasterville neighborhood, was kicked in the forehead by a mule Friday evening and severely injured, the calk of the animal's hoof inflicting a deep and deadly wound. Dr. S. W. Pryor was called in Saturday morning, and performed an operation. At last accounts the boy was resting well, and had an excellent chance to recover.... At a special meeting of the county board of commissioners Friday, at hostilities would not end until at least which Mr. W. L. Abernathy, intendant of Fort Lawn, was present, Mr. H. F. Hollis was re-elected weigher at Fort Lawn.....Messrs. Erskine Betts and Tom McLure expect to leave for City Point, Va., Friday, to take positions in the powder works.....Dr. and Mrs. D. G. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Brice, Supreme Authority.-Two little girls Dr. G. B. White, Mr. T. H. White, Mr. S. E. Wylie, Mr. J. M. Bell, Mrs. Rena W. Strong, Miss Esther Strong and perhaps others, expect to leave tomor- of food, will compel Great Britain to row for All Healing Springs conference.....The employees' outing over plies in the United States throughout the C. & N.-W. railway yesterday was greatly enjoyed. About fifty left here on a special train at six o'clock in the morning and were joined at various > points along the road by others of the railway's employees and friends. A splendid dinner was served the crowd means of Gastonia Gazette, Aug. 24: The following party came up on the C. & N.-W. this morning to attend the convention at Linwood this week: Rev. M T. Ellis of Doraville Ga: Dr R G Phillips, Dr. G. B. White, Mr. B. D. White and Miss Lizzie White of Chester, S. C.; Dr. E. C. Draffin and Mr. C. C. Sloan of Columbia; Miss Eloise Hardeman of Louisville, Ga.; Miss Gladys Patrick of White Oak, S. C .: Miss Myrtle Henry of Rodman, S. C .: others will come in this afternoon....

Mr. P. A. Stroup of Clover, and Mr. A. K. Whitesides of Hickory Grove. Many The following party left this morning for Scotland county on a two-weeks' fox hunt: Messrs, J. E and J. W Falls, Billy Smart, Ralph Carson, J. H. Huffstutler, Carl Robinson and Roy Bradley. Messrs. W. M. Crawford and W. N. Davis will join them the latter part of the week At 4.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Mr. Willie C. Pasour and Miss Corrie Moton were married, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. S. Black, pastor of the Weslevan Methodist church, in the presence of a number of friends Ralph Whitesides, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Whitesides, was quite painfully injured yesterday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding on West Main avenue, was struck by Mr. J. F. Johnson's automobile, throwing him very heavily to the ground. Fortunately no bones were broken, though he received a severe blow on the head.

Lancaster News, Aug. 24: After a years, Mr. H. E. Williams passed away catch the child. Neither was injured at his home at Heath Springs on Tuesday, the 19th, at 12 o'clock m. Funeral services were conducted by his pastor. Rev. J. W. H. Dyches, in the Baptist Obliging Daughter.-"Papa," said church, assisted by the Rev. J. B. "you Weldon of the Methodist church, Friwouldn't like me to go away and leave day morning at 10 o'clock, after which the remains were laid to rest in Salem cemetery. Mr. Williams was in his 36th year, was a member of the Baptist church, and a member of Barron onged to the Junior and Woodman fraternities.....Rev. J. S. Dill. D. D. pastor of the First Baptist church of Gaffney, will assist the pastor in a meeting in the First Baptist church here, beginning October 11.....Mrs. Maggie Bruce, aged 71 years, wife of They have so much harder time mak- Mr. W. B. Bruce, died at her home a few miles out from Heath Springs on Tuesday, the 17th inst., after an illness of several months. Interment took place on Wednesday afternoon at Salem cemetery, after funeral services had been held in the Baptist church by her pastor, the Rev. B. F. Carson, assisted by the Rev. J. B. Weldon and customer the other day and when the the Rev. J. W. H. Dyches The many friends of Master Tom Funder- him: burk, and they are many, will be glad Rock Hill Record, Aug. 23: Mr. O S. Poe informs us that he is farming ed: "I have been at this counter four curity could a southern bank ask than some, too, this year. Says he made years and you are the first customer the obligation of a merchant or farm- cool fountain in the patio, when an ern chief was satisfied that I did not 2,200 bushels of oats this year, and who ever gave me a kind word." money in the retail grocery business." has seven wagons today hauling them! We are very thoughtless people.

ill for the past several weeks.

from fever, with which he has been TOLD BY LOCAL EXCHANGES to town. He also made about a half carload of wheat and is fixing to put in 50 more acres of alfalfa.....A swimming meet is being arranged between the Fort Mill aquatic team and the Rock Hill Y. M. C. A. aquatic team to take place during the last week in August Friends of Jas. A. Barber were glad to see him on the streets again today after having spent some time both at the Fennell infirmary and at his home on account of sickness. Cherokee, Cleveland, Gaston, Lan-

PREPARING FOR A SWEEP

Kitchener's Great Army Concentrating for a Grand Campaign. When the loss of the transpor steamship Royal Edward by submaland a few days ago, with the further statement that possibly a thousand of the soldiers who had embarked upon permit some intimations to be made public of a fact concerning which international financiers of New York have had for some time knowledge confidentially imparted. One of the London newspapers, when commenting upon the loss of the Royal Edward, stated, on Wednesday of last week that Great Britain is to be congratulated that this is the first occasion upto report disaster of this kind. it is known, as it must soon be, that there have sailed from Great Britain nore than 2,000,000 troops which have been safely landed then it will be understood how excellent has been the skill and capacity of the British navy n guarding and convoying its troops. Early last week information was furnished by one or two of the leading international financiers which not only serves to explain the use to which Great Britain is putting its stupend ous loan made a few weeks ago, but also the necessity for Great Britain to provide facilities in the United States whereby her enormous obligations upon current accounts can be met. This information states, first, that Flanders Great Britain had, early in July, an army of approximately 650,000 men. This army is distinsuished in name and character from the army which Lord Kitchener peen occupied for more than a year in recruiting, drilling and equipping and making thoroughly effective for campaign service. By the first of July, Kitchener, working with a secrecy men of finance, had recruited, drilled and thoroughly equipped an army which is known as Kitchener's army and which in numbers is approximately three million men. This enumera-tion does not include the British army of 650,000 men which is now in Flan ders. These troops have been transported and are now being transported This movement of troops has been accomplished not only with great secrecy, but also with absolute safe-ty. The international financiers speak of it as possibly the finest and certainly the greatest record ever made of the movement by transports. Not even in Great Britain, excepting in govern-ment circles and probably in some of he newspaper offices, has there beer any knowledge of this stupendous movement. It is spoken of here as the army which Lord Kitchener had in mind when he was reported to have said at the beginning of the war that 18 months had passed. Of course, there is no knowledge excepting that possessed by Kitchener himelf and his rovernment of the disposition which s to be made of these the inference is strong that so great an army as that, if it be well equipped and possess munitions in plenty, will not remain idle. There are some hints which lead to a suspicion that a great general movement may begin some time in September. That, however, would probably depend upon circumnot mcrely this kind; equipped, but with adequate supplies continue her purchases of food sup-some method be adopted-either a great credit or the shipment of large mounts of gold and of securities-by means of which payments can to made.--Holland's New York Letter.

ODD INCIDENTS

News Items Out of the Ordinary Gathered from Different Exchanges. Georgia Garner, nine years old, of Lake City, Fla., coughed up a small metal doll which she had swallowed three years ago. W. H. Hilton, 65 years old, of Crane, Mo., has a peculiar affliction which prevents his speaking to persons near him. He can talk to animals or perions at a distance Cutting roses in her garden She started to run indoors, tripped over a lawn mower and fell. The scissors in her hand pierced her heart, killing her instantly.

Paul and Fred Goldsmith of Comnack, L. I., took refuge in a barn during a storm at Allentown, Pa. The and Fred was knocked unconscious.

To celebrate their 86th birthday, Mrs. Nathan V. Brand of Leonards-Sitting on the doorstep of her home Mrs. Maddelena Balsina of Philadelhas a sprained foot and many painful phia, Pa., heard her baby utter a cry above her. She looked up to see the lose its balance and fall. The mother brave battle for life lasting for several sprang under the window in time to beyond a slight cut on the baby's lip. A. C. Bartell, police court reporter, at Topeka, Kan., had a tip that some persons had buried beer in their back yard. He obtained a grave digger's spade, and stealthily entered the yard After much labor in what appeared to > day had buried. When Coroner Dr. Walkinshaw Wawarusa, Ind., performed an autopsy on a young woman following her mys half normal size and that her liver was many times larger than it should have up into her shoulder. The woman was Thoughtless-A young man, a clerk in a local department store according to The New York Sun, waited on a lines of industry will be followed by sale was completed the patron said to flation.

the intestines.

"I like the way you have waited on to learn that he is steadily recovering me. You are quick and obliging, and I consider you an unusually good salesman.

> The clerk was pleased, of course "Thank you," he said; "then he add Miscellancous Reading.

IN DEFENSE OF COTTON W. G. P. Harding Thinks Situation

Hopeful. Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 25 .- W. H . Harding, of the Federal reserve board, told the Alabama Merchants' association here that the placing of cotton on the contraband list by the Allies did not create a desperate situation but rather one calling for intelligent leadership. He urged southern bankers to make concessions to finance the crop and predicted there would be international competition for the American crop, despite the fact that it was contraband. Mr. Harding handled, for the reserve board, the arrangements for the hundred million dollar cotton loan fund. He explained to the Ala-but was giving his personal views. "Germany," said Mr. Harding, "is as anxious to have cotton as the Allies are to prevent her. It is not inconceivable that there may be evidence efore very long of international competition for possession of the south's great staple. It is at least a possibility that cotton will be purchased in large quantities for foreign account and stored in southern warehouses, to be shipped out as needed and as oppor unities for shipment arise.

not speaking for the Federal board.

"No one has ever accused the Ger nans of being lacking in far-sighted ness. They are already looking for ward to what will happen when peace is restored and that they will make a supreme effort to recover their lost trade with other nations cannot be doubted. It is reasonable to believ that they would look with complacency upon the absolute control of the cotton narket by the mills of England and America, permitting them to secur their supplies of cotton at very low prices and defer their own purchases until after peace is made and take the chances of securing then their own stocks at much higher prices? Is i ot reasonable to believe that they wil arrange to buy cotton as the spinner of other nations buy it and can they not easily arrange to have their cotton purchases stored in this country for their account until they can transport it to their own shores?"

Mr. Harding said the south's welfare depends upon the marketing of cotton at fairly remunerative rates and south ern bankers should, wherever possible make liberal concessions in their usua rates on commodity loans. High in erest, he pointed out, means forced

"Present conditions," he said, "fully justify low rates and southern bankers should be willing to forego tempo rary profits for the sake of security and solidity in the future. I am sure that the Federal reserve banks may be depended upon under their power of redicounting to co-operate to the fullest extent with the banks in taking care of the cotton crop and this assurance is, of course, not confined to cotton loans but extends to other staple commodities. "It is now a matter of public know edge that the British government and its Allies have declared cotton an abstood that cotton will be subject to seizure, even when consigned to neutral countries, unless the shipment is made n accordance with the terms and limi-Doubtless it is with intent tations of the proclamation declaring to facilitate payments for these pur-chases, as well as payment for pur-chases now under way that Great Britain looks upon it as inevitable that it contraband. As the annual takings of American cotton by Austria and Germany amount to about 3,000,000 pales, the attitude of Great Britain and her Allies has created much uncertainty in the cotton trade and great apprehension on the part of cotton pro lucers in the south."

Mr. Harding assumed that 22,500, 000 bales represent the world's normal consumption. The visible supply now he said, was 4,250,000 bales and an estimate of 12,000,000 bales for the present American crop could not be re garded as too low. He took 6,000,000 bales as a fair estimate for all other countries. His estimate for the next 12 months, including what is now in sight, thus totalled 22,500,000 bales The declaration of contraband against cotton, he thought, would perhaps b more effective in keeping it out of Ger Temple, Texas, recently, Mrs. Ed. G. many than were the orders in council Talley heard her baby cry in the If the world's cotton requirements by reason of the war were curtailed 3. 000,000 bales for the coming season, he pointed out that would represent the amount that would usually go to Ger-

The Federal reserve board, he said, has been advised by the department of lightning struck a pillar against which agriculture's office of markets that the Paul was leaning, ran down it and public, private and cotton mill wareripped the man's shirt entirely from houses in the cotton growing states in his body. Paul's body was scorched, 1914 had an aggregate storage capacity of 11.577.465 bales.

"It is thought not at all unlikely, Mrs. J. C. Barrett of Edmonston, and he said, "that before the present crop comes to market there will be 5,000 ville, N. Y., will be rocked in the warehouses of all classes in the south. presence of their guests in the old Should this prove true, there will be cradle in which they were rocked storage capacity in the southern warewhen babies. They claim to be the houses for not less than 12,500,000 bales of flat cotton, while the cotton mill warehouses will be able to take care of 1,300,000 bales. Concensus of opinion of representatives of the Federal reserve banks of St. Louis, Richmond, Dallas, Atlanta and Kansas City, child in a window on the third floor consulted by counsel for the Federal reserve board, seems to be that the holder of negotiable warehouse receipts is protected from all claims of subsequent lien holders and subsequent creditors the original owner of the commodity covered by the receipt.

"In view of difficulties that may arise in satisfying distant lenders as to the validity under all conditions of warehouse receipts for cotton offered be a newly made grave, he dug up hem as collateral, it would seem that three chickens which the people that for the present, at least, loans on cot on must be first negotiated through local banks in the south. These banks have never before enjoyed for redis counting the notes taken against such oans and it is for them more than for any other agency to determine the policy of the south in regard to the marketing the present cotton crop. The results of a gradual marketing o satisfactory than would be the case were the crop forced upon the market within a short period. "You have an opportunity of con-serving the value of the south's great-21 years old, and died of poisoning of est asset and upon you, southern bank bility of the weal or woe of a great agricultural section perhaps for years. Leading financiers freely express the The banking reserves of this country are considerably more requirements. Our gold holdings, over billion dollars, are larger than hose of any other two countries combined. Our trade balances are piling up unprecedentedly, probably amounting to a billion dollars during the las er which he has been carrying on a vestment than to carry this obligation along for a few months if necessary, the patio in that room." He pointed a secured by the actual cotton properly short, black finger toward the place warehoused and insured and certain

President Wilson, in a letter read by Mr. Harding, expressed confidence that banks in the agricultural regions, the south particularly, would content themselves with not exceeding two per cent above the rate they themselves pay on money for meeting the cotton problem, and said the cotton producers should exact what they have a right to expect from the banks. The president's letter, read as part of Mr. Harding's address, was in reply to a letter which had been handed the president in Washington by Mr. Hardng during a conference at the White louse last Monday. It follows: "My dear Mr. Harding: Thank you sincerely for your letter of August 22. It gives me just the information I de

"What interests me most is this: It is evident from what you tell me that the country banks with whom the farmer and other producers directly deal, can get money at from four to four and one-half per cent and that the question whether the benefit of this advantageous rate is to be ex-tended to the farmer is in their hands. bama merchants, however, that he was It is inconceivable to me that those who are responsible for dealing directly with the producers of the country should be willing to jeopardize the prosperity of the country itself by refusing to share with the producer beneficial rates now obtainable

"I think that we can confidently exect that the banks in the cotton states and in the agricultural regions generally will content themselves with rate not more than one or two per cent above the rate which they the I hope that the facts ome generally known among the producers of the country so that they may feel themselves free to exact of he banks with which they deal what they undoubtedly have a right to expect. Cordially and sincerely yours. "Woodrow Wilson."

THE MEXICAN LEADERS

An Intimate Sketch of the Three Mexican Chiefs.

morning in the early part of July, I visited General Carranza when he was a guest of Francisco Villa, in the latter's palace in Chihuahua, formerly the residence of the great land paron, Terrazas.

Stepping into the great threshold o the mansion, and glancing through an open door at the extreme end of the room, I saw the president of Mexico sitting before his desk in a B. V. D. shirt, burying his face into a huge slice of watermelon, while the pink juice trickled down his long, white beard and dripped on his dusty patent leather shoes.

I stood spell-bound, but a momen later one of his secretaries leaped from-I don't know where-and with scream, closed the door between me and his chief. This done he turned to

An Affair of State "What can I do for the senor?" he asked nervously.

"I wish to see President Carranza, answered. "I am a newspaper man." "Ah!" he smiled. "Just one moment. The first chief is busy now with affairs of state, but it will not be long before you may be admitted into his resence."

Commanding me to sit in a mos corgeous chair in the room, and bow ng profusely, he disappeared from the room. Five minutes later he was inviting me into Carranza's private office. An entirely different scene conronted me. Carranza's desk was litter ed with papers. The watermelon had disappeared, and the big, egotistical first chief stood before me, attired in a new uniform of a screaming blue color. He stood up as I entered and offered me his hand.

"I have been very busy today," he said in a deep, sonorous voice. "But never refuse to see an intelligent newspaper man! Now, tell me, what papers you represent?'

I told him. "Ah! they are a great many, are hey not?" "Si. senor." I replied. "Also argest in every one of our great cities. He beamed on me as he stroked his beard. "I am greatly interested! I am greatly interested! I Am He Who-

"Most of you American newspaper men have preferred to go to Francisco Villa for your news," he began, restroking his beard. "But Villa is only a subordinate of mine. I am the chief executive of this proud nation: I am Francisco Villa's commander: I am he who directs Francisco Villa's movements; I am the man who initiated the revolution against Huerta; I am he whom God has chosen to remold the history and government of the wonderful republic. I am-" "How many children have you?" interrupted. "I have brought several into this world. I will make them great figures in history, because they are sons of a man who will remold this great and wonderful country, I-" "How soon do you expect this revolution to be over?" · I interrupted "I will soon give orders to my different commanders which, when they are obeyed, will annihilate the enemy. I will then take complete charge of the affairs of Mexico. I will fill the greatest position in Mexico. I will

I forgot the rest of it, but that night in my dreams huge capital I's my face. "The only thing I want is to danced around me and a chorus of voices sang: "I! I! I! I!'

fill the greatest position in Mexico with a dignity unparalleled in history.

Emiliano Zapata.

When I was in Mexico City last December a confidential agent of the American government invited me to accompany him on a trip to Cuernavaca, General Emiliano Zapata's headquarters.

Arriving at our hotel, Mr. Carothers power; where there is power there is demanded the best suite of rooms in the house. The clerk, struck by the Mexico. Even your companions, the importance of having two foreigners in his hotel, brushed aside the mozo, who carried our suit cases, and carried our baggage upstairs himself.

"Why, there are no beds in this room and no furniture!" Mr. Carothers exclaimed. "I told you I wanted the best rooms in the house. "Oh! but these are the best rooms in the house," answered the amazed servant. You will find it very use clerk. "Gen. Zapata confiscated all ful." the rugs and sheets in the hotel so as to make clothes for his soldiers. You must sleep like we do-on the floor and use your coat for a pillow." "All right, then" sighed Carothers. Show us the bathroom." Zapata Needed the Water Pipes. "Oh! but there is no water in the bathrooms," exclaimed the clerk. "General Zapata has confiscated all the face. He threw it from him with all

You must bathe in the fountain outside. You see there are no women hereabouts, so you can't object." We had scarcely bathed in the large, orderly arrived looking for me.

behind me.

I entered a large, bare room. Rifles of every description were piled up in one corner of the sala. Near them stood huge sacks of metal disks. At least 100 chairs were placed around this enormous room. I stood there fully a minute before I noticed that to my immediate right sat, what appeared to me, a Zapatista soldier. He was even smaller than the others I had seen. He carefully examined the gun in his hands, and apparently satisfled that it was clean, laid it aside and continued to stare at me.

Zapata Buys a Watch. His attention suddenly centered $1.50 watch which I wore. "What is that?" He grabbed my hand in a vise-like grip. I pulled it away sharply. "That is a reloj-a timepiece," explained.

"You lie like a dog. All watches ar

I held my wrist to his ear so he could listen to the ticking of the little watch. A look of amazement came into his eyes.

"Carramba!" he exclaimed. so! What is it worth?" I wished to impress him with my importance, so I replied: "A hundred lollars in gold." He held out his arm. "Put it

"Why, do you want to buy it?" asked.

For an answer he whistled shrilly

Another soldier came into the room promptly, "Bring me $100 in gold coins," said my friend. "Hurry up." The messenger promptly returned with a large bag and handed it to my friend. He counted twenty pieces of gold and handed them to me. "I believe that's equivalent to hundred of your money, is it not?" I nodded, but my mouth was wide Just then my friend General Banderas, came into the room. "Greatest Warrior of Age." A beatific expression of child-like admiration came into his eyes as he turned to my friend on the bench. "Si! Si! My great General Emiliano Turning to me, he continued: "And my Amigo, I will introduce to you the greatest warrior of the age, Apostle Savior of the Mexican nation, my General Don Emiliano Zapata!" After I had gasped away my surprise, and returned the general's hundred dollars, saying that "I was only mous half-naked Attila of the south. "Do you intend to join forces with General Villa's army?" I asked. "If Villa intends to play square with me; otherwise I will crush him. What is your president's name?" he asked. "Woodrow Wilson" "Tell me," continued the inquisitive Zapata, "can Senor Wilson order his nemies executed?"

"Executed?" I gasped. "Of course "He can't order people killed?" he exclaimed in amazement.

what's he president for?"

Francisco Villa.

"Well

The first time I saw General Francisco Villa he was sitting on a flat car, which was attached to one of his troop trains then on its way to Chi huahua. He had just finished a meal of tortillas and chilli and was singing a song of his own brave deeds, which some Mexican poet had recently com

The song was often interrupted when the general would pick his yellow teeth with a murderous looking knife, which he used for all purposes I had heard so much about the bandit ed the flat car with great caution- or maybe it was timidity-on my part. The song was stopped while the great northern leader glared at me. The pink silk shirt he wore stuck to his body on account of the heat; his face was unshaved, and remnants of his recent meal still decorated his

my hand. "Take My Picture."

mustache. I carried my camera

As I said before, I approached him with great timidity, and stood trembling while he glowered at me from his startled me.

"Take my picture." The knife was laid aside as he threw out a huge chest.

"Yes, sir! Yes, sir!" I muttered fumbling with my camera. "Yes, sir!" When I exhausted my supply of films I started to interview him by asking for his opinion of Huerta. The amount of profanity this query induced made me resolve never to ask that question again.

Cautiously I attempted the secon "What are your plans for the es tablishment of a government in Mexi-He straightened up and squinted his eyes, flourishing his fist and pulled his mustache." "I am fighting for the poor people, he bellowed, as he struck his paw in take everything away from the rich people and give it to the poor."

"But can this present generation o neducated classes run the great industries of Mexico?" I asked. A Second Napoleon.

"Of course they will," he replied with great emphasis.

"My guns and cannon can do any thing. Where there is force there is a government. I am the savior of other periodistas, call me the second Napoleon, so I have to save myself." He took out a small corn-husl cigarette and fumbled in his pockets for a match. I saw he couldn't find one, so I reached for an automati pocket lighter in my bag

"Here, Senor General," I handed it to him, "is a gift from your humble

"Press that little button and you will find out." I replied He turned the little nickel-plated box in his hands and examined gingerly; then he pressed the buttor True to its reputation, the tiny paten spring opened and gave forth a gen erous flame. I have never seen such a look of terror come into any man's pipes so as to melt them into pennies. his might, and in a choking voice called his guards and placed me under arrest. It took a lot of explaining and pesnola demonstration before the northintend to blow him up .- John W. Rob crop not yet existent, what better inWOMAN AND THE HOME

Fact, Fashion and Fancy Calculated t Interest York County Women.

The Latest in Underwear. Silk is the rage for underwear, and web, is not considered so desirable. silken array. This new china silk is Such a combination is not a safe thing particularly liked for night robes. It nor any but the expert to attempt, is usually in white, the surface being however. too glassy for the pale pinks and blues to appear sufficiently soft in color for

A Few Helpful Hints. Colored linens are so fashionabl that it is well to know that delicate shades may be kept from fading by "Gets-lt" for Corns, using plenty of pulverized pure borax in the water in which they are washed underwear.

and rinsed. A weak solution of alum will revive he colors of a faded carpet after a thorough sweeping. A piece of lace or net stretched and put under a hole in a lace curtain, when pressed smooth with a warm iron, will scarcely be visible.

Clean your sewing machine frequently if you would have good service. Kerosene oil and absorbent cotton are admirable for the purpose. Follow with good lubricator.

Vegetable Marrow Jam.

Pare, seed and dice the marrow, place in a deep earthenware vessel; to each pound of fruit allow one lemon and one orange very thinly sliced, sprinkle over it in layers, three-quarters of a pound of sugar to each pound of fruit and leave for two days. Strain the syrup and boil for half an hour, skimming it well; put in the fruit and boil till tender, then add a few blanched and shredded almonds and a teaspoonful of ground ginger to each pound: boil five minutes more and pour into pots. This is a very good "breakfast jam" and most useful for 'open" tarts.

Try this recipe, which is used by a well known York county lady. The beverage is called tea punch: One quart boiling water, four tablespoonof the people of southern Mexico, and fuls tea, one cupful granulated sugar, juice of four lemons, one-half pint pint applinaris. Pour the boiling water over the tea, cover and leave for five minutes, strain off and cool. Half fill the punch bowl with cracked ice, add joking," I resumed my somewhat the sugar and strained juice of the startling conversation with the falemons, pour the tea over these, and, as it goes to the table, add the apollinaris. Strew a handful of mint sprays on the surface and serve at and bluff, suggesting the Revolution. Going further into the subject of color, we find numerous summer material having stripes of large dimensions and brilliant colorings. Color combination continues to be inen, let it be as fine as a spider's more daring with each season, until now there appears, in an exhibition of First comes crepe de chine, then pussy ultra-fashionable clothing, a pale pink willow taffeta, and now a third silk frock with a girdle of purple, and a is added—a china silk of good and yellow rose pinned upon the shoulder. durable weight. Crepe de chine and The description sounds unbearable, pussy willow taffeta will, however, but the purple, pink and yellow are continue to be used, the china silk just the right shades for the blending only adding one more fabric to the and fail to make the expected clash.

The military note continues to levelop, and one now finds the charming combination of army blue

> Fire in Sumter Tuesday, destroyed several shacks. A colored man was knocked down by falling rafters and severely hurt.

SURE as Sunrise!

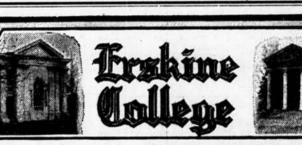

Any Corn, With "Gets-It" on It, Is an Absolute "Goner!" Yes, it's the simplest thing in the world to get rid of a corn—when you use "Gets-It," the world's greatest corn-ridder. Really, it's almost a "Gets-It" Puts Your Feet in Clover leasure to have corns just to hem come off with "Gets-It." It just off." 48 hours ends corns for keeps It makes the use of tape, corn-squeez-ing bandages, irritating salves, knives, scissors, and razors really look ridicu-lous. Get rid of those corns quickly, surely, painlessly—just easily—with "Gets-It." For warts and bunions, too It's the 20th century way.

"Gets-It" is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

YORK COUNTY

A DIRECTORY of the White Men of York county of voting age, together with the postoffice address and occupation of each, may be had at the Bank of Clover, the Bank of Hickory Grove, the First National Bank of Sha-ron, the People's National Bank of Rock Hill, or from The Enquirer Office at 25 cents a copy. This directory contains more than 4,000 names, and is of especial service and value for comercial purposes. Published by
L. M. GRIST'S SONS.

IN THE TRAINING OF YOUNG MEN AND YOUNG WOMEN. A time-seasoned institution offering superior advantages for the training of the intellect and the development of character under sound Christian influences. Situated in a quiet college town, educational and religious in life and atmosphere; influences highly favorable to study. Health conditions unexcelled. Buildings equipped and arranged to afford the maximum of efficiency

THREE-QUARTERS OF A CENTURY OF CONSISTENT IDEALS

in college work and administration. College Home accommodates seventy young men. The Wylie Home, a handsome new building for young women provides every modern dormitory equipment and convenience. Twenty-acre campus; out-door sports and exercises. Literary and science courses of collegiate standard; B. A. and M. A degrees. Library of 10,000 volumes; Laboratories, Observatory, Fitting Government based upon an appeal to honor and self-respect. Free tuition to young ladies in Wylie Home. Expenses for year about $200,

For Catalogue ad-

Moffatt, D. D. PRESIDENT,

DUE WEST, S. C.

James Strong

FALSE ECONOMY

It is an old saying that "Clothes don't make the man," and quite true is this saying—but YOU would give quicker attention and more consideration to the well dressed man than you would to the man who is careless of his clothes-especially if the wearer were a stranger. Wouldn't YOU? Yes. Well, Good Printed Stationery, Booklets, etc., do not make a good, reliable merchant, a banker or other safe business manbut YOU know that YOU-unconsciously possiblynotice the difference in the quality of the printed matter that passes through your hands. If a letter YOU receive is written on a poor quality of paper and carries a cheap looking printed heading YOU-unconsciously possibly-put it down in your mind that the writer is on a par with his stationery and YOU think of him just that way. Well, if this be true then what does the OTHER FELLOW think of YOU when YOUR stationery is of the cheap, shoddy looking kind? Forms the same kind of opinion of YOU that YOU would form of HIM.

What kind of stationery do YOU use? Is it the kind that leaves a bad taste or the kind that commands attention by its very appearance-its Quality, if you please? The better kind costs a little more-it's worth more because it gets more—but a red stamp will carry either kind. If YOU want YOUR stationery to command attention use the BEST-it will pay YOU for its COST. Use the kind that YOU will get at The Enquirer Office. We insist on all Our work being "Just As Good As Your Money Will Buy." If YOU are satisfied with the cheap, shoddy kind of printing, then of course we do not expect to get your orders-But WE DO WANT YOUR ORDER if YOU want the BEST in Quality at a FAIR PRICE

A rubber stamp will satisfy some people, while others are satisfied with anything that comes out of a printing office-but the Merchant, Banker or Manufacturer who wants to create a good impression on the other Merchant. Banker or Manufacturer is satisfied with nothing but the BEST-That's Our Kind.

L. M. GRIST'S SONS, JOB PRINTERS